Annie Johnson.

Few Islanders know that the sugar packet Annie Johnson running between Hilo and San Francisco has a "past." Originally she belonged to Liverpool England, and was known as the "Ada Ireland. She was abandoned in flames owing to the spontaneous combustion of her cargo of coal in the fall of 1876, about two miles from the Marquesas Islands (Polynesia), which her crew reached in open boats, after 25 days with the loss of only one man. The burning derelict drifted westward to Tahiti, a distance of nearly twenty-five hundred miles, and was towed into port by a French man-ofwar in the summer of 1877, about eight montas after her abandonment. Her coal cargo continued to burn until May, 1978, when she was repaired, re-named and placed under the stars and stripes.
